

My name is Mandy Christian, and I have proudly called Ashippun home for over 40 years. I am the daughter of Davy Wolf and the granddaughter of Darwin and June Wolf, and the values of family, hard work, and respect for land were instilled in me by them from an early age. I bring strong business sense and leadership experience to the table. My husband and I own and operate a small business, and I also serve as an operations manager for a building automation company, where planning, accountability, and practical decision-making are part of my daily work. I am no stranger to volunteerism and have spent many years serving in youth sports and animal rescue, giving back to the community that shaped me. I am a wife, a mother, a hobby farmer, an animal lover, and a servant leader who deeply appreciates the rural landscape and the farmers who help preserve the character of Ashippun. If given the opportunity to serve you on the town board, my goal is to provide calm, steady leadership that listens to and advocates for the people of this community. I believe you, our residents, deserve to have your voices heard, and I am committed to ensuring our town government communicates openly and effectively while moving Ashippun forward in a way that protects our rural roots and way of life we all value.
